As a member of the BCBS system thru a group, I cannot see the benefits for me or my family if this sale is consummated. As a not-for-profit, BCBS collects premiums from its members to pay for medical services and prescriptions utilized by the members/groups. As a "for profit" entity, Relevance and, their executives are incentivized to spend as little as possible to reward themselves and stockholders. This is done by restricting the types of pharmaceuticals, medical treatments and services prescribed by an individual's physician. Not a bean counter at the for profit. Isn't this a brilliant business plan? So, the policy holders, once again, pay outrageous premiums for less service, treatments and drugs all for the sake of big bonuses and dividends. As for the "Foundation" that would be reaping the rewards of 87+ years of members premiums, the politics of who gets what has already started. My common sense tells me that this is a bad deal. The old adage of if it smells like a turd, it probably is. Just say'n
