To Whom It May Concern: I and my wife are long-time policyholders/members of Blue Cross. I object to the proposed sale to Elevance as not in our best interests, as we're well satisfied with the non-profit Blue Cross "as is" and know that the interests of the stockholders of the "for profit" Elevance will then take priority. In the event that the sale does occur, we also object to the proceeds being distributed to any "foundation", based in Baton Rouge, the purpose and operation of which is vague and not directly related to the mission of Blue Cross. If any of the sales proceeds are directed other than to the Blue Cross members, such should be to charities or "foundations" selected by each member, as I have my own preferred "foundations" and "charities" to support, in and knowing my community and its needs.
